

Know Thyself through Thy Face!

Deborah Lee

Deborah Lee has been trained as a Master Face Reader in Chinese Medicine under Lillian Bridges.

Actor Will Smith is famous for his “standout” ears. It looks like his son Jaden is following in his genetic footprints.

I find the best way to love someone is not to change them, but instead, to help them reveal the greatest version of themselves.

—Author Steve Maraboli

Discovering keys to improve your inner and outer health and well-being... getting in touch with your true nature and aligning with it... living and fulfilling your life’s purpose... finding your golden path... It’s all in your face!

Each unique feature of your face tells a story about you, your character, what you like and what you don’t—why you like it and why not! How each feature is shaped, its size and length, how it protrudes or doesn’t—your eyes, ears and nose, your lips and chin, even your eyebrows, their shape and angle, their sparse or bushy hair—tells a story.

For instance, someone with ears that protrude from their head means they like their ideas to stand out in this world—definitely not a conformist. This is great if they are independent thinkers and can manifest their idea in life, but if they find themselves in a stifling corporate environment, it could be hard, unless they are the entrepreneurs. Someone who has a long, straight nose pointed downward is a trailblazer who gets the job done. High cheekbones? You would be better off to let them be in charge to get the job done. They have high standards and won’t be pushed around. It will be “my way or the highway” with them. A strong protruding chin? Yes, they’re stubborn and they’ll never give up. Having a strong will is a virtue, of course, but having a personal relationship with this person could be difficult, especially if YOU have a strong chin also!

Someone with deep-set eyes is usually an introvert and somewhat private, so don’t try to push them in front of a crowd to perform, and don’t expect them to disclose too much even in private unless they really know you. By contrast, someone with large eyes usually has deep emotions and is sensitive to their own and others’ feelings, so watch out if this person goes to a sentimental movie with you. You may find them crying a lot—their feelings are right on the surface ready to bubble over.

While knowing these features and traits about yourself is one thing, living in close relationship with others and staying true to yourself while accepting the habits and influences of those you’re close to, is another thing. That’s where knowing thyself, with your original talents and unique character, is key to keeping your balance in the face of life's challenging relationships.

Deborah Lee is a Certified Master Face Reader in Chinese Medicine, Cosmetologist, Aesthetician and Clinical Aromatherapist, a Holistic Healthcare Practitioner and Transformational Life Coach utilizing the Asian Healing Arts. She is located at The Zen of Beauty, 2137 Durston Rd., Suite #27, in Bozeman. Call (406) 209-5516. Visit TheZenOfBeauty.com, appointments through Schedulicity.com.

Thanks to Chinese Medicine, there's a road map to your journey through life—the Three Treasures. Honor yourself through these three: The Jing (your genetics, inherited gifts and talents), the Shen (your unique spirit energy that shines in your eyes and emanates through your glowing smile and skin), and the Chi (the fuel that you access through your food and lifestyle choices and the breath of life). Nurturing these treasure is the secret to longevity and to living in harmony with your being and with life.

These three treasures can be read on your face. They are the keys to revealing the greatest version of yourself and of those you love. To learn more, please join me for both the upcoming free introductory class and the three-hour workshop. ■

Know Thyself Through Thy Face

Face Reading & Chinese Medicine
with the Five Elements

~WORKSHOP~

Sept. 30th • 9:30 - 12:30
$40 per person or $60 for 2 people
Movement Arts Center (MAC)
1871 S. 22nd Ave., Bozeman

Learn key tips to enhance your beauty, health & balance for life!

~FREE PREVIEW~

Sept. 13th • 6:30 pm
Bozeman Public Library
Call 406-209-5516 for more info

FREEDOM REINS

with Karen Nowak

EMOTION CODE
Certified Practitioner

BODY CODE
Certified Practitioner

A pioneering blend of Healing, Communication and Spiritual Growth for You and Your Animals...

www.freedomreinsllc.com • 406-326-2192

All the events, music, what's new...

Since 1998

LivingstonMontana.com

Turn to us when you want to know!

Restaurant Menus, Yellow Pages,
Celebrations not-to-miss, and more...

E-mail: roeby@livingstonmontana.com

Approved Salon

Why Choose Organic Color?

- Ammonia Free
- Formaldehyde Free/Resorcinol Free
- No problems with resistant gray coverage
- No toxic fumes or scalp irritation
- No color fading or banding

Deborah Lee
Toxic-Free Salon
www.thezenofbeauty.com
406-209-5516
2137 Durston Rd #27
Bozeman, MT 59718

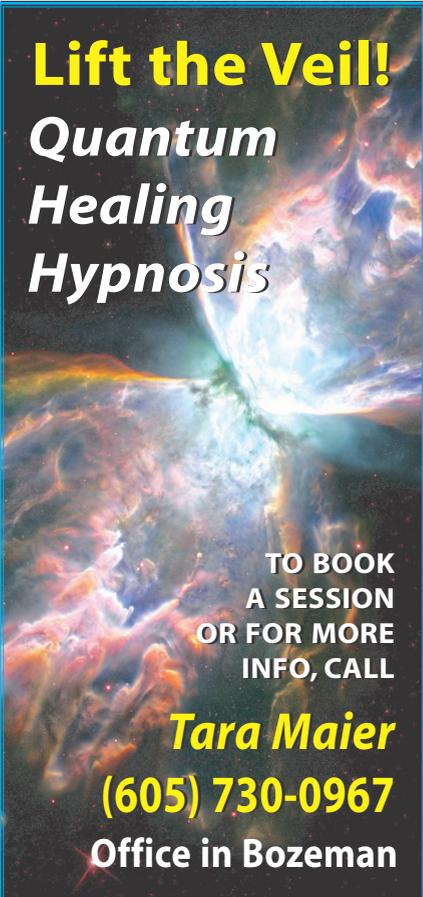

Refer a friend and earn the gift of Zen Dollars with your next visit

hair • facials • massage • waxing
cupping • body wraps

Lift the Veil!

Quantum Healing Hypnosis

TO BOOK
A SESSION
OR FOR MORE
INFO, CALL

Tara Maier
(605) 730-0967
Office in Bozeman